

The Situation.

If the Champion understands it correctly, what the Alliance aims at is not to make war on any political party simply because it represents certain distinctive political ideas, but rather as the Emporia Republican puts it, "to take the control of party machinery but of the hands of professional politicians and keep it among the people where it belongs, and to straighten up parties and make them more considerate of and attentive to the interests and demands of agriculture."

If that is the purpose of the Alliance, and it evidently is, there can be no reasonable objection to its endeavors, for it must be admitted that, possibly without design, the interests of farmers have not received the consideration they deserve, and that there is every reason to spur up political parties to do more than they have been doing in the way of practical and remedial legislation to conserve the interests of this important class.

In this effort the Alliance will find that the republican party which has done more for agriculture than any other political organization in this county, will heartily co-operate in securing all reasonable compliance with all just demands.

Of course the Alliance need not expect that the Republican party will stultify itself by co-operating to promote anything that savors unadulterated demagoguery, or that is manifestly in the nature of an economic vagary, as impractical as it is unfair.

The Republican party cannot and will not lend itself to any scheme that seeks to revolutionize fundamental and established principles of economics and finance. It will not assist to disturb or imperil the rights of property or to invest any class with special prerogatives to the detriment of any other class. It will not in short do anything which in the end will prove a positive injury to the farmers and which will ultimately react to their disadvantage; but so far as it can help to secure much needed remedial legislation an equitable adjustment of railroad freight rates; the free coinage of silver; the suppression of trusts monopolies, combinations, gambling in agricultural products; an equitable system of taxation; economy in state and county affairs; a reasonable reduction of official salaries—so far as it can assist to secure these things, and whatever else may be necessary to promote the welfare not of the agricultural, but of all classes the Republican party may be relied on to co-operate with the Alliance.

The aims of both organizations in these particulars are identical, and for this reason there is and can be no antagonism between them and the members of the Alliance who have gone into the movement in good faith not for demagogical purposes, will seek to accomplish their ends within the lines of the republican party and not by allying themselves with political slysters who are trying to run the Alliance in their own selfish personal interest.—Atchison Champion.

CITIZENS' MEETING.

Committees Appointed to Make Arrangements for the Convention.

Last Thursday night a citizens' meeting was held at the Opel hotel for the purpose of making arrangements for the Sixth district congressional convention, which will be held here May 8. The attendance was large, and the work passed off harmoniously.

Mayor R. K. Beymer presided as chairman, and R. L. Chambers was chosen secretary.

It was decided to admit delegates to the grand concert to be given on Thursday night, May 8, free of charge, and their badges will answer for a ticket of admission. The editors and reporters who attend will have close attention and every convenience placed at their command. A newspaper headquarters will be established in the city with tables, chairs, daily papers, etc. Nothing will be left undone to give the delegates and visitors a cordial welcome and show them the warmest hospitality.

The following committees were appointed:

Committee on arrangements—R. M. McGonigal, L. L. French and J. P. Bayha.

Finance—Chas. Buschow, W. P. Sullivan and R. L. Chambers.

Printing and entertaining editors and reporters—Phil Troutfetter, C. E. Kalb and Jas. N. Pike.

Reception—J. B. Morrison, Chas. Buschow, H. A. Brant, F. G. Laubach, Frank Pingree, L. L. McCormick, D. Bradbury, J. M. Summers, M. W. Witham, J. C. Passell, T. S. Foster, C. E. Behne, R. L. Riddle, W. S. Ferguson, V. C. Eddy, Geo. W. Goodson, J. E. Campbell, W. S. Wilcox, E. Van Metre, W. H. Copeland, H. E. Weld and E. P. Hovey.

If you or any of your family should happen to be frightfully burned or scalded, what have you in the house to alleviate the pain until you can get a physician? A box of Beggs' German Salve on hand at times like this would save a world of suffering and oftentimes a doctor bill, as it has no equal in cases of this kind, as well as inflammation of all kinds. Martin & Hampton, druggists.

Down West ---.

Convention day is coming, the clans are gathering fast. The result in Graham and Ellis is blowing a blast. The hooded gang is working hard, and quiet as a mouse. To put Turner on the shelf and McLennan in the House. A day of wrath is coming, the people are aroused. They will defend the district's name and keep its name unharmed. They'll put Hanback, McFall, et al, just where they ought to be. Along with Modesty at the bottom of the sea.
